The Rev. Norman U. Boone Pastor At M. P. Methodist Church

The Reverend Norman U. Boone who succeeds the Rev. J. S. Noblin in the pastorate of the Moss Point Methodist church occupied the pulpit at the church for the first time last Sunday.

There were two services, one at 11:00 a. m. and the other at 7:30. These hours will be maintained at future services except that the evening worship will be held at 7:00 instead of 7:30.

Mr. Boone, who was assigned to the Moss Point church at the recent Methodist Conference, is filling a pastorate for the first time since receiving his discharge from the Navy. While in the service he spent some months in Pensacola, Fla., and then was stationed aboard an aircraft carrier in the Southwest Pacific until shortly before his discharge.

He and Mrs. Boone and their eight-year old son are now domiciled in the parsonage adjacent to the church.

Mr. Noblin has been transferred to the Anquila Methodist church.

Each winner will receive a special medal commemorating his or her attainments and the sixty-five winners of Mississippi Power and Light company county electric contests will participate in the same program with the 4-H Club group.

Wells, school administrators: Mrs. Elsie Beatty, high school; Mrs. Annie Lee Painter, upper elementary; and Miss Lida Meriweather, lower elementary. A 15-minute intermission will precede the general assembly scheduled for 8:30. The Rev. N. U. Boone, pastor of the Moss Point Methodist church, will open the session with invocation and A. F. Megehee, county superintendent of education, will lead the discussion on "Problems and Policies".

44	#12. RACHEL BOONE--surname COFFEY omitted after husband's name.
60	#39. JOHN BOONE--Info. rec'd later, lists his marriage to Minerva Taff 15 June 1843, indicating it was a 3rd marriage. The two daughters listed in 1850 census, must have been from a 2nd marriage.
61	#190, should be JOHN VARDAMAN McKINNEY, NOT "James"; also incorrect in Index.
83	#408--in biog. of MARY NIXON BOONE (last line), the word should be heard, not "hear"; in Index, her birth-death dates (p. 605) should be 1872-1949.
88	#468--name should be JULIUS ARCHIBALD BRYAN, not "Icilius"; same mistake is repeated on page 136, and again in Index, p. 609.
89	#114. JOHN BRYAN died 1836, not "1849"; his son, JOHN C. BRYAN, #481, was born 23 Aug. 1836; d. 1877; m. 1 May 1859, Lucinda B. Hutchinson (b. 1842; d. 1933), dau. of Mary Pitman & Andrew Hutchinson. (Lucinda is listed as a sister of John C. Bryan, in the book. This is incorrect.) Ref.:-"Some Boones of St. Charles County, Missouri",by Lillian Hays Oliver.
125	#952.-LAURA LEONA CLARKE- her 2nd husband, Wm McCoy Payne, was formerly the husband of her sister WILLIE, not of the sister "Cleo".
153	The word several (top line) incorrectly spelled "ceveral".
212	#1019. A. ROLLAND MOORE--in biog. the word store is misspelled "dtore".
212	#1954. J.R. MOORE'S wife, Lucille, b. 1917, not "1916"; also in Index, p. 611.
226.	#1127. ORSON WILFORD SMITH, was born in 1882, not "1822".
237	#2202. Wm. F. BROOKS, was born 1949, not "1939"; also p. 608, in Index.
256	#1407. THELMA NICHOLS KEITH was married only once,--to Newton Harold Bevan. Everything pertaining to a 2nd marriage is incorrect, and should be deleted. Info. on Richard O. Nalley is on page 167; p. in Index should be 167, not 256.
324	#1863. GENEVA F. HOLMES--her name is now VAN ZANT, not "Van Zandt"- also Index.
342	#1969. JESSE R. PAYNE, JR.--wife's maiden name is PARKINSON, not "Parkington"; the name (McKenzie), and the words "born in Scotland", incorrect here; they belong in biog. of #1968, Calvin W. Payne.
409	#2472. KAREN SUE COFFEY'S marriage was Aug. 1959, not "1957"; her son, PATRICK, #3903, was born 10 June 1960, not "1959"; also incorrect in Index, p. 624. On page 267, KAREN'S name is misspelled "Karne".
470	#4463. RHONDA DENISE COOR was born in 1954, not "1944"; wrong in Index, also.
471	#4467. KELLI COLLEEN COOR was born 9 Oct. 1962, not "9 Sept".

Miss Alice Boone, of 616 West Webster, is pictured at her typewriter, where she recently completed a monumental manuscript — the "Descendants of Israel Boone." Copies of the book are in her hand and in the foreground. Israel Boone, Miss Boone explained, was a brother of the famed frontiersman, Daniel Boone.

Labors Eight Years on 694-Page Book

Alice Boone Traces Family Tree

By FRANK FARMER
Staff Writer

The descendants of Israel Boone should be eternally grateful to his great - great - great - granddaughter.

Miss Alice Boone, 78, of 616 West Webster, is that relative.

She recently compiled a family tree of the descendants of Israel Boone — a brother of the famous frontiersman, Daniel — wrote an enormous manuscript and had it published as a handsome book.

The book contains 694 pages and bears more than 11,000 names of descendants, plus interesting family memorabilia and a quaint article, "Wagon Train Honeymoon and Family Life in Gold Rush Days in Early California, or Reminiscences of a Daughter, Gussie Boone Payne."

"I had an awful time getting it done," said Miss Boone, who was born in Hickory County to William and Mary (Roman) Boone. "I wanted to have it published by offset printing and, in order that the publisher could photograph the pages, I bought an electric typewriter so the touch would be the same on each letter.

"Then, I was afraid I'd make strikeovers, so I did the entire manuscript hunt - and - peck."

Thousands of letters went into the research for the family tome, and when Boone descendant began contacting Boone descendant, thanks to Alice Boone's interest, the information cascaded in, along with pictures and other interesting information about family ties believed long lost.

When Miss Boone, who taught school for seven years, was a governess in St. Louis and later a printing house employe in California, indicated her desire to publish her work — and mentioned that she needed some hard cash to do so — the orders "poured in." The entire printing of 500 volumes is now sold with the exception of some 20 copies, and they undoubtedly will be snapped up by some of the Boone descendants.

In a preface, Miss Boone wrote, "It is not the purpose here, to delve into the history of the Boone family in the Old World (George Boone, the progenitor, lived and died in England) but to try to establish an authentic foundation for our heritage in these United States, specifically, in this instance, for the Israel Boone family, and to gather together in one volume, the names and family records of as many of his descendants as can be obtained."

Miss Boone noted, "The word descendant has been so bandied about, especially as concerns the famous Daniel Boone, that many seem unable to distinguish it from that of other relationships. In order to be a direct descendant of the famous pioneer, it is necessary that he be in a direct line in one's lineage — that is, he must be a grandfather in some degree, the number of greats preceding the word grandfather depending on the number of the generation of the person in question.

"We, of this Israel Boone line are not, any of us, descendants of Daniel, but he is the uncle of us all, the number of greats, as stated above, depending on the number of the generation of which the one in question is a part."

Israel Boone was the second child of Squire Boone and his wife, Sarah Morgan Boone, while Daniel was the sixth child of the couple who, all told, had 11 children.

Israel Boone was born in Bucks County, Pa., married in Berks County at age 21, but the name of his wife has been lost to history, Miss Alice Boone reports in her book. "The Boones all being members of the Society of Friends, the young folks were supposed to marry within the Church; and its monthly meeting minutes, ordinarily so thorough in recordings of the births, marriages and deaths of its members, stating only that Israel had 'married out,' the entry having been made 31 December, 1747."

The "marriage out" is believed to have precipitated a break by the entire Squire Boone Family from the Society of Friends, and Squire and Israel and families moved to North Carolina, where Israel died at about 30 years of age, leaving two sons — Jesse and Jonathan, and two daughters, Elizabeth and Sarah.

Miss Alice Boone is descended from the line of Jonathan Boone. Of her father, William Edgar, she writes, "Born 6 April, 1856, about six miles from Quincy, he died 14 April, 1947, in Weaubleau.

"Will Boone was a farmer, and his life-long hobby was singing. In his youth, he had attended the old-time 'singing schools' taught by early German settlers, who were masters of their trade. And Will Boone became one of their most interested students. His understanding of the 'Rudiments of Music' as taught in their classes has seldom been excelled.

"His rich and resonant voice, with its wide range of tone, enabled him to sing any one of the four parts of hymns, with ease, and he could, without the aid of a musical instrument, obtain the pitch of the song to accommodate all parts, merely by glancing at the music, then singing from the lowest base note to the highest soprano note of the particular song to be sung. He was never happier than when he could gather with others in churches or other congregations, to sing, and his services were always in demand in such places."

When Will Boone married Mary Amelia Roman in Cecil County, Md., Miss Boone writes, "they rode horseback, on that winter day, a distance of about 10 miles, to the home of the old pioneer minister, the Rev. John D. Simms, to be married. Mary Roman was of early Quaker stock, and was from a family with strong literary inclinations and amazingly keen memories."

But Miss Alice Boone is well aware that even the keenest memory is not sufficient to maintain the branches of a family tree generation after generation.

And this is why she labored for eight years to prepare her monumental "Descendants of Israel Boone."

This Book was selected as First Prize Winner in the 1970 Family History Contest, by The Heart of America Genealogical Society. The prize, a beautiful Plaque, appropriately inscribed, was presented to the compiler, Alice H. Boone, on Oct. 10, at the Society's regular Meeting in the Public Library, Kansas City, Missouri.

HAND-CARVED MANTELS DONE BY DANIEL BOONE HIMSELF!

The Daniel Boone Home stands in an enchanting wooded hillside setting, surrounded by stately elms, including the 16½-ft. in girth Judgment Tree. This four-story Georgian-style structure is as staunch and solid as the remarkable man who conceived it. Begun in 1803 and completed in 1810, the house resembles Daniel's birthplace in Pennsylvania and ancestral Boone residences in Devon, England. Built on his son Nathan's tract of land, this house was to be home to Daniel until his death in 1820.

Daniel supervised construction of the house and handcrafted many parts of the structure himself. It is indeed a marvel in construction and a monument to the ingenuity of the early settlers of the Femme Osage valley who helped to build it. The blue limestone of the 2½-ft. thick walls were quarried in the area and brought to the site of the house by oxen where Daniel directed the laying of the walls. Because of the danger of Indian attack, gun ports were built on either side of the front door. All beams and other woodwork in the house are of black walnut from the adjacent woods and were hewn and finished by hand. Five walnut fireplaces in the house were carved by Boone himself. All doors throughout the two-story structure are hand-crafted.

The Daniel Boone Home has been faithfully restored and furnished with furniture of the period, much of it being belongings of Daniel or his relatives. Here indeed, is a journey into early Americana, from the hand-crafted walnut woodwork throughout the house to the four-poster beds, the candlesticks, long rifle and powder horn.

STEP BACK INTO MISSOURI'S PAST . . .

He came from Kentucky looking for a new frontier to conquer, his crude dugout making its arduous way down the Ohio, up the Mississippi to the Missouri and the wild and beautiful spot where the Femme Osage joins the big river. Daniel Boone . . . trailblazer, Indian fighter, scout, trapper, surveyor, state legislator of West Virginia, judge . . . arrived in Missouri territory to open a whole new era in America's westward push. And here in the peaceful Femme Osage valley, this colorful explorer, this perpetual wanderer, found the place he would always call home.

Step back into the long ago, into the days when Missouri territory was the wild frontier and when all the excitement and glory of a growing young nation was embodied in farsighted men such as Daniel Boone.

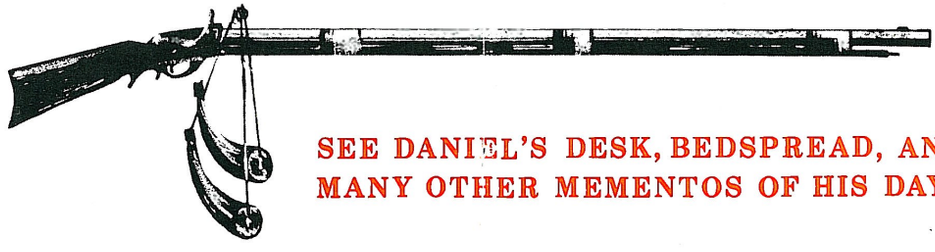

Here at Daniel Boone's home in the lovely Femme Osage valley near Defiance, Missouri, history lives on . . . along the trails he walked in search of game, among the many mementos in the ruggedly beautiful house he built on a wooded hillside. The Daniel Boone country is yours to enjoy.

This is the land Daniel came to in 1799 before the Louisiana Purchase as "syndic" of Spanish-ruled Missouri territory. With 50 other families from Kentucky, he and his wife Rebecca came to settle the peaceful valley and make it flourish. Even now, more than a century and a half later, the Femme Osage valley still retains the same aura of rugged and natural beauty it had when Daniel came here and fell in love with the area. You, too, will find a peacefulness here, untouched by the bustling civilization we now know.

The valley and its stream received their names from Daniel. As legend has it, when he arrived he was greeted by a small band of Osage Indians, at that time the only inhabitants of the region. An Indian woman in the party fell into the swollen stream and drowned. Daniel's remark of "Femme Osage" gave the valley and stream the name they still bear.

No matter where Daniel's wandering took him . . . blazing the Boonslick trail or as far west as Yellowstone, his trail always led back to his beloved Femme Osage valley. Here Daniel found happiness and here you can find a glimpse back into the history of America and the building of the West.

Here, where Daniel Boone lived and died, you can find much to delight the whole family. A wide panorama of early Americana can be found in the house and the adjoining museum. The beautiful surrounding country offers you a delightful jaunt into a historically-rich past. Be sure to bring your camera and capture the scenic and historic wonder of Daniel Boone's Femme Osage valley.

SEE DANIEL'S DESK, BEDSPREAD, AND MANY OTHER MEMENTOS OF HIS DAY...

A Frontiersman's long rifle and powder horn still hang over the Great Fireplace in the dining room of the house, just as they did when he often took them down to take on scouting and trapping trips or to quell restless Indians. Authentic mementos of Daniel's era such as this abound in the house which has been restored and furnished in the style of Daniel's day. This rugged stone house is a living memorial to this giant of the American frontier.

Despite his exploring, Daniel supervised construction of the house and did much of the work himself. See the mantels he carved, the gun ports beside the front door from which the Boones and their neighbors warded off Indian attack, the small room to the right of the north entrance where Daniel died after a short illness when he was 86 years of age, on September 26, 1820. Here indeed, is a trip through time into the historic past when our nation was being built.
